Bio:

Mathew Paul Jinks is an English Immigrant, living teaching and working in Chicago Illinois. He completed his undergraduate degree at the Glasgow School Of Art, Scotland in 2005, studying Fine Art Photography, then emigrating to the U.S and completing his MFA at the University of Illinois at Chicago in Studio Arts, in 2008. Whilst living and working in Chicago Mathew has been teaching at both DePaul University (Digital Photography) and at The University of Illinois at Chicago (Seminar classes) Mathew frequently collaborates with fellow artists, notably working for Omer fasts production of Looking Pretty for God 2008 and more recently with Theaster Gates choir performance at the Milwaukee Museum of Art. He also records and produces sound for moving image, working often with local filmmaker Melika Bass and recently for Mark Jeffries performance group Every House Has A Door. Mathew is currently working on a new body of work entitled Trauma Narratives; works adapted from collected narratives from the histories of immigrants living in Illinois.

Statement:

My work performs culture and collects memory. My installations, videos and performances appropriate and de-regulate social and historical constructs: self, nation, history. I use image and language as formal stand-ins for the latent territories that underlie these constructs and the thresholds that link them.

Since 2008 I have been working with the ideas of cultural inheritance and the inherent inability to return to the state before events occur. Trauma as a baseline for communal shared pain is of interest to me, as is the social conditions trauma creates in its aftermath. The video work entitled On Sundrun 2009 was a game of relationships and a set of dynamics, I aimed to create a mythical moment and a point of departure for the lives of the men involved. The new work; Trauma Narratives-New Delhi are mediations of a text detailing a witness of an unjust massacre. In this work I am interested in the distance between an act and a response and the relationship between my photographic pieces and the first hand recorded narrative. Can the authority of a narrative shift when delivered through the lens of a post Colonial inheritor?

I am currently in pre-production for a work exploring African Immigrant narratives re-told and performed.
